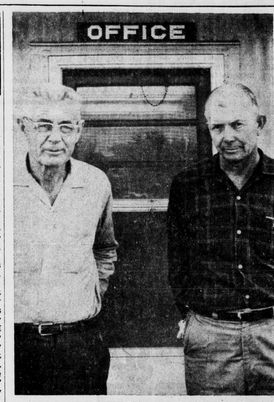
Local Firm Adds Historical Touch

New stationery printed for the Marshall Department Store, Appomattox, includes a picture of the McLean House and the words, 'Where Peace Was Signed — April 9, 1865' Store owner Ben Marshall feels this adds a historical touch to the store's participation in the Civil War Centennial observance.



Superintendent Robert Leffers and his successor, Vance O. Mims, are shown at the entrance to TransCo's office, Appomattox. The cameraman found the men quite busy, since it is the time of the "annual overhaul" of the pumping station and the vast pipe system connecting it with TransCo's parent operation in Texas. A "pig" was put through the pipe on Monday. That's a king size brush forced through the pipe system to clean it. As it emerged from the pipe into the "pig trap" at Appomattox, there was a sound like a jet plane making a low dive.

New Superintendent Begins Duties At Transcontinental Pump Station

Transcontinental Gas Pipe line Corporation of Texas, has announced the arrival of a new superintendent for the Appomattox Compressor Station No. 17. He is Vance O. Mims, 47, a native of Louisiana, who comes here from Beaumont, Texas.

Mims, who has been associated with TransCo since 1950, began his work with the company as a repairman. He and Mr. Leffers knew each other when Leffers was stationed in Roanoke Alabama and Mims was stationed in Saint Francisville, Louisiana. Using the TransCo communications system for line maintenance, they talked with each other regularly, said Mr. Leffers.

The Mims have two children: Gene, 14, and Elaine, 20. Gene is a student at Hardin Jefferson High School, Sour Lake, Texas; and Elaine is employed by Humble Oil Co., Beaumont, Texas.

Like the Leffers, the Mims are interested in the Order of Eastern Star. Mr. Mims says that he is not a "Lion" yet, but is interested in the organization. Mr. Leffers served as Lions president, '62-63. Mr. Leffers has served twice as worthy patron in the local Eastern Star Chapter. Mrs. Leffers has served as worthy matron. $420,095 Secondary Road Fund Allocated To Appomattox County

Ninety-four counties in the state's secondary highway system will share $53,789,191 in construction and maintenance funds during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Budgets for the use of these funds in each county are in preparation by the State Highway Department's field engineers. These work programs will include items to be financed wholly by $8,701,731 in additional revenues from increa ed auto license fees approved by the General Assembly.
